FIREBUGS MAKE A FIENDISH ATTEMPT TO DESTROY DWELLING

Pour Oil on Porch and Set Fire to It Early This Morning

BLAZE PROMPTLY DISCOVERED

A devilish attempt was made at an early hour this morning to destroy a block of houses at Speers next to the plant of the Atlantic Refining company, and but for the timely discovery of the blaze the fiends would likely have accomplished their purpose.

The block which was in danger contains four living apartments, one of which is occupied by Mrs. Murphy and her family. Her son John is employed in the mills at Monessen, and this is believed to have been the motive which prompted the firebugs to attempt the destruction of this property. Mrs. Murphy was awakened by a noise this morning about 1:30 o'clock and went to the front door to ascertain the cause. As soon as she opened the door a number of shots rang out, coming from the direction of the railroad, the bullets striking the house and causing her to quickly close the door as a measure of safety. Three times she tried to open the door and ascertained the trouble, and three times the shots rang out, the bullets striking the house near the door jomb.

Superintendent George Andrews of the Atlantic Refining plant there, and Raymond Dixon, who lives in houses on either side of the endangered block, were aroused and went to the scene, when they were also fired on by the parties who had evidently intended destroying the house by fire.

However, the neighborhood was soon aroused and the fire which had been started on the front porch of the dwelling occupied by Mrs. Murphy was overcome. An investigation revealed the fact that oil had been poured over the porch floor, the oil having been stolen from the refining plant nearby, and with papers stuffed in and about openings near the porch everything had apparently been prepared for a quick blaze. Later it developed that the guard who had been on duty at the refining company plant was relieved yesterday, and evidently those who attempted to burn the house were aware of this fact. At any rate cans of oil were taken from the plant and used in this diabolical attempt.

When it looked as if the fire would make headway an alarm was sent for the Charleroi fire company, which was ready to respond to the call, when they received word their services would not be needed.

The residents of Speers could find no clue to the perpetrators of this fiendish deed, as the ones responsible were able to escape in the darkness. It is believed however that when they hurriedly left the scene they went away in the direction of Charleroi.

More than likely the guard will be replaced at the refining plant

PLEAD GUILTY TO STEALING WHISKEY

In the United States court, at Pittsburgh on Friday, Frank Szebrak and Martin Ales, both of South Brownsville, entered pleas of guilty to robbing the distillery of the Stewart Distilling company at Merrittstown, Pa. They also entered a plea to another indictment which charged them with concealing the whiskey after the theft.

MOTHER OF SOLDIER MAKES AN APPEAL

Below is a mother's appeal on behalf of dead sons and relatives who lie buried in foreign soil as a result of the war with Germany.

The following was published in the Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph of October 16, 1919.

To the Editor of Chronicle Telegraph: Dear Sir: I have noticed in the editorials of your paper what different mothers are saying about bringing our dead boys home from France. I think every mother in the United States should stand firm on this matter and not only ask for their boys' bodies, but demand them. Of course there are some that it would be impossible to bring, but they all went bravely and cheerfully to do their bit and it's no more than natural that the most of them would have said that they wanted to be buried in the dear old United States if they had expressed their thoughts to us. I have a dear boy who left us all—a little wife and baby, too—and if his case had been thoroughly investigated as it should have been, as I have been told since, his death was caused by one of his officers, he would be with his family, as he should be, and it's just as little as the government can do to return his body after the wrong done him. I also have another son who was in France. Thank God he

ISSUES WARNING AGAINST DIPHTHERIA

Dr. Edward Martin, state commissioner of health, has notified county medical directors that diphtheria is again increasing and immediate steps to prevent its assuming epidemic forms should be taken. The co-operation of medical men, school teachers and parents is sought. Dr. Martin says the October report of diphtheria showed 2,567 cases, of which 1,983 were in the cities.

tonight and every effort made to prevent a recurrence of such another atrocious attempt. Had the building fired been destroyed the flames would likely have taken a number of other dwellings with it. The residents of that locality are very much concerned over the situation and will likely take some measures to prevent a recurrence of any further attempt to destroy property.

One Man Under Arrest For Dynamiting Bridge on Ten Mile

Frank Segro, aged 27 a miner of West Millsboro, accused by railroad detectives of attempting to blow up a railroad bridge on the Ten Mile branch of the Monongahela Division, P. R. R., Wednesday night, was given a hearing in Pittsburgh on Friday before U. S. Commissioner Knox, and remanded to jail for a further hearing this morning.

The officers believe they have the guilty party in Segro, and will produce two witnesses today who will testify that they saw Segro, accompanied by his wife, not far from the dynamited bridge a short time after the explosion. Capt. Davis and Officers Jones and Purselove went to the Segro home, where they made a search of the house and uncovered a lot of material of a very suspicious character. Over two hundred dynamite percussion caps, a quantity of nitroglycerin, and a quantity of copper wire, which they said tallied with some found at the bridge after it was wrecked.

Segro could not give a very good account of himself for the night, although he admitted being out until a late hour. One of his stories was, that he and his wife were on the way home from Waynesburg. On the way down the creek they were met by two men, who asked them if they had heard the explosion, to which they replied in the negative. The actions of Segro prior to the time of the explosion will be thoroughly investigated by the federal and railroad authorities.

THIEVES BUTCHER AND HAUL AWAY FAT HOG

Wednesday night last thieves butchered and hauled away a fat hog belonging to Demas Crumrine, a Civil war veteran, and whose home is in Deemston. Other residents of that locality have been victims recently of these night raiders, and considerable alarm is felt in the neighborhood over these depredations.

WAGE AGREEMENT NOT YET REACHED

While no agreement has been reached between miners and operators at Washington, it is believed that ultimately common ground will be found upon which to arrive at an adjustment. In the meantime there are several parts of the country which are experiencing a serious shortage in fuel. The local district, however, has all it needs for the present, and with many non-union mines working in the upper reaches of the river it is expected that all plants here can be kept in operation indefinitely.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER FOR MISS LAUDERBACK

The L. C. E. A. gave a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Irene Lauderback at her home, 520 Third street, Friday evening. The bride-elect received many beautiful and useful presents. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, and Misses Matilda Martinetti and Minnie Schmieler. Euchre was the diversion of the evening with honors awarded to Mrs. William High and Miss Leider. Miss Lauderback will be married from St. Jerome's church next Tuesday at 9 o'clock a. m.

James Myers, who was injured at work at the Itzberg Plate Glass plant several weeks ago, has returned from the Charleroi-Monessen hospital and is now recuperating at his home on Fallowfield avenue.

Members of Local Gang Returned to Charleroi and Beaver

INFORMATIONS WILL BE MADE

Officer Murphy, who attended the hearing in Pittsburgh on Friday, before Magistrate Sweeney, before whom the sextet arrested in Charleroi early Tuesday morning were arraigned, returned home last evening bringing with him John Sharkey and Mrs. Eleanor Brunner, who were both committed to the local lockup for further investigation.

The hearing in Pittsburgh on Friday did not develop any new details, except with reference to Leppert, who was identified by Mrs. Claude Welsh, of Monessen, as one who had held her up in her store some time ago, when she alleges he took $2,000 worth of diamonds from her. The Pittsburgh police, however, could not identify any of the prisoners, as having been concerned in any crooked work in that city, and consequently they were turned over to Charleroi and Beaver county officers.

The two other women, Mrs. Adelle Connors and Mrs. Irene Cumming, were turned over to the Chief of Detectives of Beaver county, Mrs. Connors being on parole, while Mrs. Cumming is charged with having jumped her bail.

Leppert and Shanor will be brought back to Charleroi either Sunday or Monday, and in all probability charges will be made against the three men, while Mrs. Brunner will be held as a material witness. The local police have charges to make against at least two of the men, with a possibility that the third will also be charged with larceny. After the cases of these men have been disposed of it may be that an effort will be made to remove Mrs. Brunner from local surroundings and provide her with a home in some other locality where he will be under better influences. In the past she has worked at the Macbeth factory, but it develops that her companions during her leisure hours have not been of the best. The police believe the arrests made have broken up a bad gang which has been operating in this section of the valley for a long time. Mrs. Leppert did not give any testimony at the hearing.

AN UNPRECEDENTED DRIVE

We have had Liberty Loan drives, Red Cross drives, U. M. C. A. drives, and Salvation Army drives—for money—and they were all successful because more or less of the war sentiment and real or supposed practical necessity were behind even the two last named. The latest drive announced—a Methodist church drive for a million "souls" or conversions by June 1—is something altogether different as well as wholly unprecedented. There have been "revivals" without number in the past, but never before have revivalists ventured to fix the number of converts they intended to win within a given time. If inducing a man to begin a new life were as easy as to win his vote, if the kingdom of heaven could be attained by means of a ticket of admission without change or development in character, this surprising proposition would be less suggestive of a mere counting of heads.

That the Methodists are serious, full of zeal, and means well, however, nobody will question. Undoubtedly the states of mind produced by the great war, including an awakening of a wider interest in the life after death, offer an unparalleled missionary field, and presumably this enters into the calculation. The Methodists may not add a million to their membership by next June, but if they carry out their plan of seeking to reach the working classes their work will be profitable as well as evangelistic. A campaign against the devil in the form of Bolshevism, as well as in other forms is much needed. In our great cities today the working classes are said to be very largely alienated from the churches and this alone makes them the more ready to give ear to the evil whispers of the "Reds". If they can be won to Methodism, they will also be won to law and order.

THE EASIEST WAY

It is nearly twelve months since President Wilson proposed that the railroads be returned to private management by the end of this year. If the country so willed, but not until November 11 was a railroad bill presented to Congress. The President submitted three possibilities: a continuation of government control, a return to private ownership and the old basis, and a return to private management with modifications to the third proposition, but he put the matter up to Congress. Now, after nearly a year, the House has taken up a railroad bill for consideration. The report of the opening debate fails to give a clear outline of the provisions of the bill, but indicates that a majority of both parties is strongly opposed to government control and favors a return to private management without delay.

Undoubtedly this attitude is representative of majority sentiment throughout the country and we may expect reasonably prompt action returning the roads to their owners on the old basis. It will be easy for Congress to do this. And it would require no great mental exertion to decide to keep the roads under the government as at present. The third proposition—the return of the roads to private management under modified conditions—is the one to which serious inquiry and constructive criticism. It is also the one that seems most desirable for the old system of private management caused much just complaint and would appear to demand amendment. But nobody has dared put a plan, and Congress is slow to change the easiest way toward the solution of a perplexing problem.

The Traveler's Guide to National Geographic Society's "bad" maps, which are sold at 55 cents a copy, are "leading men" marred and appear to be of revolutionary character. If leading men can afford to load up at that price, they must be getting even higher wages than reported.

With Three-Point Cantilever Springs New Overland 4 Seems to "Sail Over The Roads"

THE new Three-Point Cantilever Springs of Overland 4, by their special construction and design, protect car and passengers from ordinary road jolts. Bumping, twisting, swaying and vibrating are wonderfully lessened. The blows of the road seldom reach you. There is less tendency to bodily fatigue after long rides.

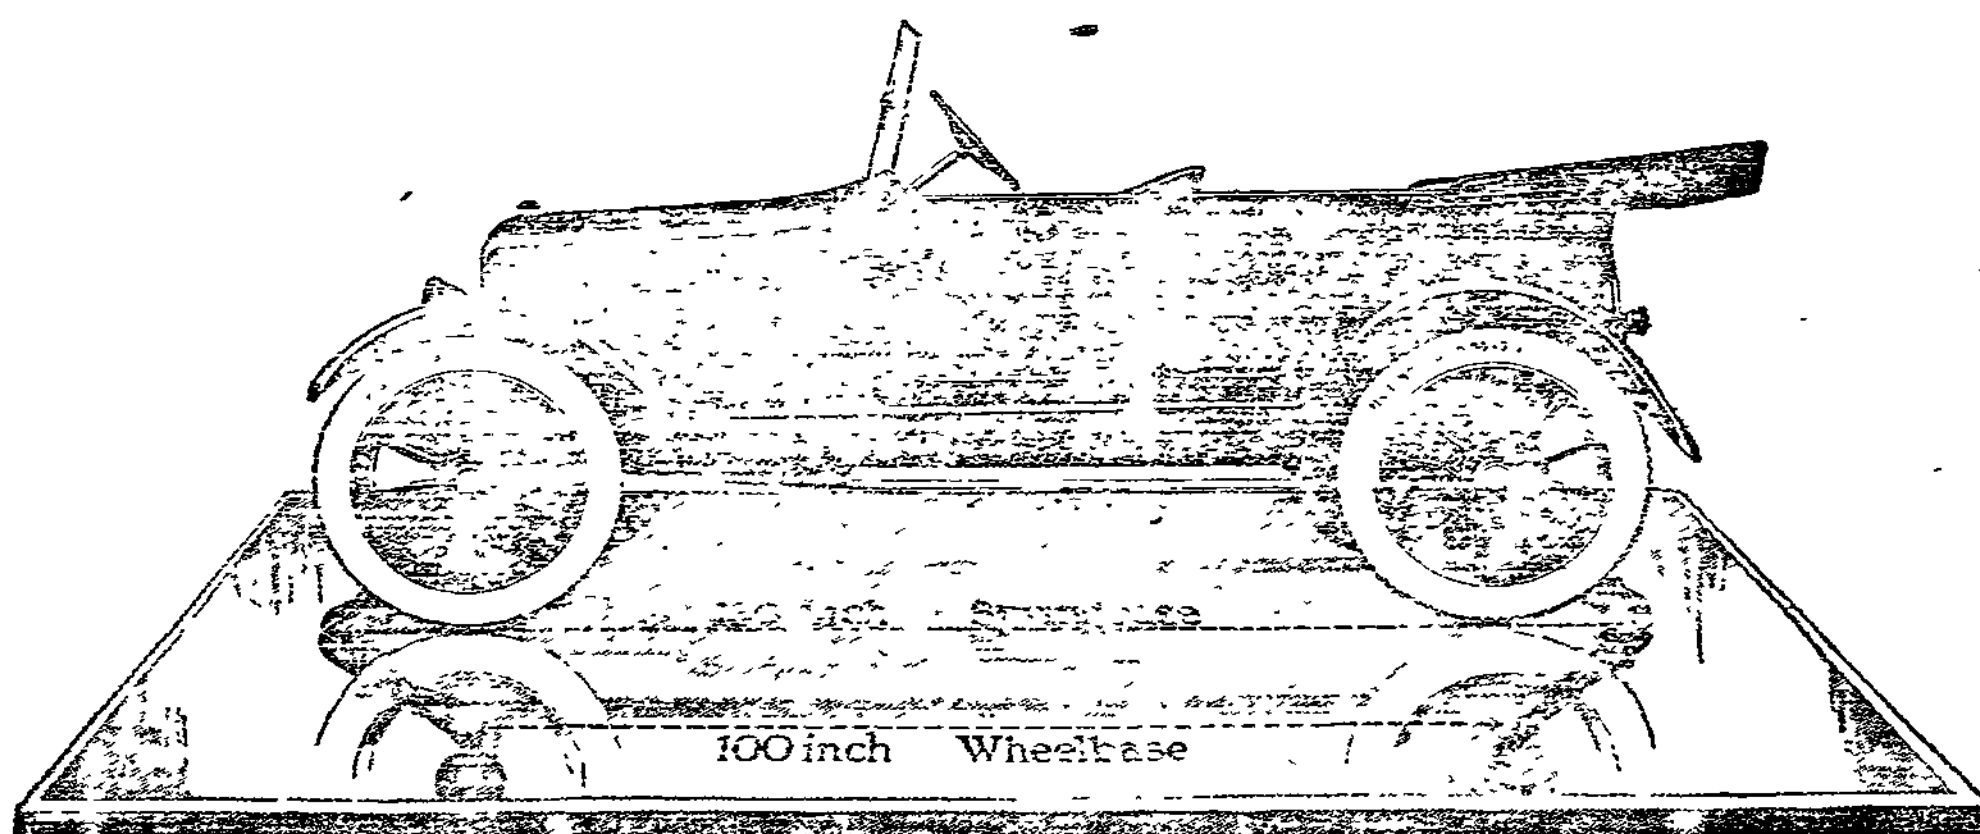

The springs of Overland 4 attached at the ends of a 130-inch Springbase give the riding comfort and road steadiness heretofore possible only with cars of long wheelbase and great weight, yet Overland 4 retains the light weight and economy advantages of 100-inch wheelbase.

Three-Point Cantilever Springs protect the car from the hammering and wear of road blows. They lengthen its life and reduce upkeep costs.

Equipment of Overland 4 is dependable and complete from Auto-Lite Starting and Lighting to Tillotson Carburetor.

250,000 miles of test have made the strength and endurance of this car a matter of record.
